

Lo Más Olvido del Olvidado

Our Secret

based on a story by Isabel Allende

A chance encounter between two expatriates becomes anything but a casual affair.

SYNOPSIS

On September 11, 1973, General Augusto Pinochet, head of the Chilean army, launched a bloody military coup against socialist President Salvador Allende and his Popular Unity government. Enforcing a brutal dictatorship with himself as commander in chief, Pinochet and his army killed Allende, his supporters, and anyone who opposed the new political regime.

Over the next several years, thousands of workers, student leaders, artists and activists “disappeared” - tortured and killed or forced into exile. They are known as los Desaparecidos.

Famed Chilean author Isabel Allende, niece of felled President Salvador Allende, has imagined the story of two such refugees whose initial attraction veers off its seemingly destined course as they are forced to confront the secrets of their past.
